

Marine Air Command & Control System (MACCS) 2010 Reunion Quantico, Virginia

March 1, 2010

Marine Air Command & Control Operational Advisory Group Participants:

The sixth, biannual Marine Air Command & Control System (MACCS) Reunion will be held in the Quantico, Virginia area at the same time as the OAG Conference. Our intent when we chose the date and location was to provide an opportunity for those of us who served in the MACCS to interact with those who are serving today.

Our reunion hotel is the Wingate in Stafford, VA, which is a couple of miles south of MCB Quantico. We will use one of the hotel meeting rooms as a hospitality suite with beverages and snacks available. We invite the OAG participants to join us there.

The Wingate will waive the $250/day cost for the meeting room if we book enough rooms. If you are looking for a place to stay, please consider staying at the Wingate. Tell them you are attending the OAG or MACCS Reunion when you make a reservation (800-228-1000). Whether you stay there or not, you are welcome to join us in the hospitality suite. Also, consider joining us for other events as your schedule permits.

The first MACCS reunion was organized as a result of a few retired and active duty officers bringing up the idea while playing golf. There isn't a formal organization that plans the reunions, just a willing group of volunteers. You can see pictures from past reunions along with information about this reunion at <http://www.maccs-reunion.org/>.
